ABOUT

Til Elise fra Marius is an exclusive dining experience in Utskarpen, Helgeland. The couple Elise Bratteng Rønning and Marius Martinsen, both experienced chefs with backgrounds from top restaurants, have created a destination where local food and nature come together. Their “pasture to plate” concept means that the ingredients come directly from the farm, forest, and sea around them.

The restaurant offers a 12-course tasting menu that changes with the seasons, taking guests on a unique culinary journey. There’s also the option to stay overnight in charming rooms with views of the surrounding nature and fjord. It’s an ideal place for groups looking for a complete experience that combines food, nature, and culture.

With a focus on quality, sustainability, and strong local ties, Til Elise fra Marius has become a well-known culinary destination in Helgeland — an excellent option for tour operators aiming to give their guests a truly local and meaningful experience.
