ABOUT

Stavsmarken Gård and Sausage Maker is a local food producer located on the Vega archipelago, offering an authentic farm-based retail and dining experience.

The farm specialises in artisanal meat products made from its own livestock and local raw materials, including sausages, cured meats, and fresh products.

The on-site farm shop features both the farm's own production and selected products from regional producers, creating a curated showcase of local food traditions. Visitors also have the opportunity to observe the production process through a viewing window into the kitchen.

In addition, the farm café serves homemade dishes based on the farm's products, adding a culinary dimension to the visit.

This experience is well suited for groups, food-focused travel programmes, and guests seeking authentic local flavours and insight into traditional craftsmanship.
